

Problem 1 (20 points). Here are some words in Misanthla Totonac and their English translations. The stressed syllable is indicated with an acute accent (´), e.g. a → á, i → í.

číwiš	stone	qɔ́ɬayá:t	weeded (as in weeded field)
kə:kčǐ:n	gentleman	səpáp	warm
kiɬɛy:ksyá:n	I kiss you	smaháʔ	weasel
kúčiɬ	knife	šnéχlah	he lost weight
li:wátɬt	food	stáχnɛ	green
ɬtɔqɔʔ	you stir (it)	štini:tá:	ugly
ɬukúk	hole, gap	štóqɔ	you sewed (it)
múkskut	fire	táku	woman
pá:kiš	beef	tapahánu:t	you passed by
pá:ɬkə	comal	waní	he tells (it) to (him)
pa:pɔhɔɛún	wide	wǐstá:	you sell (it)
pu:laqsɔ́χ	salt tamal	ʔiktačoqɔ	I stay
qɛ:ɬtún	moonshine	ʔiqɬtə:yá:wá	I believe (it)

Mark stress in the following Misanthla Totonac words:

- | | | | |
|-------------|----------------|----------------|-------------------------|
| 1. čǐ:ňǵu | very | 7. maqɬti:ɬ | he took (it) from (him) |
| 2. čuču | he toasts (it) | 8. paqəɛənqə: | you lose (it) |
| 3. ɛaməχ | scar | 9. siksi | sweet (adjective) |
| 4. ɛǐyɔ | you laughed | 10. skitini:t | salsahuatē |
| 5. ɬkukɔhɔɬ | it all burned | 11. špa:pi:nən | he sprays |
| 6. ma:kiɛis | five | 12. šyɔ:hkuš | hair of an ear of maize |

△ Misanthla Totonac belongs to the Totonacan family. It is spoken by several hundred people in central Mexico.

č ≈ ch in which, ǵ ≈ j in judge, ɛ = ts in cats, š ≈ sh in ship, ń = ny in canyon, y = y in yet, χ = ch in German Bach or j in Spanish jalapeño. ɬ is hissing sound produced without vocal cord vibration, similar to the English s (in sing) or sh (in ship), but with the tongue positioned as for l. q and n are pronounced like k and ng in king, respectively, but with the tongue further back in the mouth. ʔ is pronounced by a brief pause of breath, as in the middle of uh-oh.

ə = a in about. ɔ and ɛ are pronounced like o and e, respectively, but with wider open mouth. A tilde (~) below a vowel denotes creaky voice. The mark : after a vowel indicates that it is pronounced long.

Comal is a kind of frying pan. Salt tamal is a kind of dish. Moonshine is a kind of liquor. Salsahuatē is a kind of mite.

— Tamila Krashtan