Problems

△ Urarina is a language isolate. It is spoken by approx. 3,000 people in north-western Peru. Punctuation is omitted in the Urarina data. tɕ and dʒ are consonants.

Urarina people practice bride service and uxorilocality, i.e. the couple would live near the wife's family after marriage.

All family members in this problem are above 15 of age and are regarded as adults according to traditions.
