

Problem 4 (20 points). Here are some words in Tübatulabal and their English translations. The marks ˙ and ˘ on a vowel denote primary and secondary stresses respectively, on the syllable containing that vowel.

1. ʔaʔà:zowá:l the shamans
2. nìxnaná:k in the company of
3. pàŋhamát the willow blind
4. tabì:tlaláh (a type of singing bird)
5. ʔìndinà:wai to buy
6. halí:l Sunday
7. wàhcipí:l the mocassin
8. naŋgàwiliʔ at the earrings

Below are other words in Tübatulabal with all twenty-four (24) stress marks removed.

9. ʔamaŋatal anyone
10. ʔa:haižì:biʔ to chew cud
11. na:bunziya eight
12. pi:ʔišt berry
13. wohombo:l the bull pine
14. na:widami in the middle
15. nimbunɣul the poor man
16. ca:ya:u to yell
17. ʔalalalibič thin

Place the missing stress marks on (9–17), making sure to place primary and secondary stresses correctly.

△ Tübatulabal was a Uto-Aztecan language spoken in Kern County, California, USA by the Tübatulabal people. It is now extinct.

č, ŋ, š, ʒ, ž and ʔ are consonants. ì is a vowel. : denotes a long vowel.

A willow blind is a piece of equipment used for bird-hunting.

—Rujul Gandhi, Shardul Chiplunkar